

WANTED TO BITE "L" THIRD RAIL, SAID BRYAN MAN

Gallant Captain Was Climbing Pillar to Do It, but Slipped Off.

PAYING ELECTION BET.

Lally Hadn't Heard the News in Two-Day Voyage About the Highways.

On the afternoon of day before yesterday, Capt. James Lally, who commands a sight-seeking yacht which runs around Manhattan Island, left his home at No. 30 West One Hundred and Seventeenth street, with a view to ascertaining how the election had gone. The next definite tidings regarding Capt. Lally's movements date from the time when he entered a drug store at One Hundred and Sixteenth street and Eighth avenue, about noon today, and told the man behind the soda fountain that he'd like to have a cup of tea.

"We don't sell tea," said the clerk. "Oh, very well," said Lally, airily. "There's other things besides tea a fellow can drink. Anyway, I can put up with almost any small disappointment, now that Bryan is elected."

"Bryan didn't win," said the drug clerk. "Taft won by more than eleven billion."

Designs on Third Rail. "You don't tell me," said Lally. "Well, in that case I've got to get busy. I made a bet with a friend that if Bryan lost I'd bite the third rail in two."

Before the hired help in the store could make a move to stop him, the yachtman had wobbled out of the place and started to climb a pillar of the "L" structure.

"Don't let anybody mislay the third rail or hide it before I get there," he yelled up, just before he lost his balance and fell on his head. The drug clerk carried him inside and telephoned to the Harlem Hospital for a doctor.

In the mean while a newsboy found Policeman John Neeley. The boy told Neeley there was a man up at Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street trying to bite the third rail in two.

"Let's see. That would be a violation of the traffic regulations," mused Neeley who appears to be a seriously minded person. So he went to the nearest telephone and told Lieut. Kearney, at the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station, that an effort was made to tie up traffic on the elevated road.

Anything to Save the "L." Kearney is also of a literal turn of mind. It would appear, for he sent a patrol wagon load of reserves to take charge of the situation. Except that the patrol wagon turned over a fruit peddler's pushcart while swinging out of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, nothing of moment happened until they dashed up to the drug store and found Dr. Murphy, from the hospital, inserting some open plumbing down Lally's throat.

It seemed that, in transmission over the telephone, the message had got so twisted that the ambulance surgeon had been led to believe he would have a case of poisoning to deal with, so he manned the stomach pump and began to jettison Lally's cargo just as soon as he arrived, without asking any foolish questions.

He didn't find any poison and after awhile Lally came to and said he felt much better. Nevertheless, they took him to the hospital for a day or two.

PLUNDERED HOME OF A POLICE SERGEANT

Flatbush Thieves Show No Discrimination in Light-Fingered Business.

It makes no difference to Flatbush thieves whose home they plunder.

Police Sergeant J. F. Farrell, of the Brownsville station, reported at the Flatbush station yesterday that a sneak thief, while his wife and children were at dinner, had robbed the upper floors of his cottage, No. 22 Martineau avenue, Tuesday evening of 1908 in cash, which his wife had concealed under a mattress.

At the time Sergeant Farrell, with other policemen was keeping the election crowds in order. It was not until after midnight that he learned of the robbery.

The policeman's sons, Paul and Robert, going upstairs, found the several of the beds were not made up. They spoke of it when they went downstairs and Mrs. Farrell, knowing that the beds had been made up, ran upstairs. She went first to her own bed, where she had hidden the money, and almost fainted when she found it gone. The room of Mary Casey, the maid, had also been explored, but there was nothing stolen from there because Mary, Mrs. Farrell says, believes in stockings and not mattresses.

SCIENTISTS APPEAL.

Devoted of Letting Son Die Without Medical Attendance.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 4.—The Supreme Court was crowded today by Christian Scientists interested in the argument on the writ of error secured by Mrs. and Mrs. Edwin M. Watson, of Trenton, near Mount Holly, who have permitted their seven-year-old son to die without calling in medical aid.

Watson's wife was convicted a year ago of manslaughter. When the child was resorted to by her mother to relieve a severe cold, she had her son die.

FRIENDS PROVE POUREN ACTIVE IN REVOLUTION

Tell of Comrades Hunted Down, Tortured and Murdered by Czar's Minions.

WOMAN DEFENDS HIM.

Criminal Charges on Which Extradition Is Asked Are 'Trumped Up' They Say.

Trina Shepte, the Russian "Joan of Arc" who directed the Russians in their efforts to thwart the Czar, was one of the witnesses in the new hearing at Jan Janoff Pouden's fight against extradition on charges of attempted murder, arson and burglary, attempted by the Russian Government. The taking of testimony was begun before Commissioner Hitchcock yesterday in the Federal Building, and will go on again to-morrow.

At that time Mrs. Shepte's testimony will be continued. She told how she had been forced to flee from place to place in Russia because of her sympathy for the "Brothers of the Woods." At present she is living with her husband in Roxbury, Mass. The other witness yesterday was Andrian Lazdyn, a leader of the revolutionists, who also fled to this country.

According to Lazdyn, Pouden lived in Madeline Parish, working on various estates as a laborer. Later he procured employment with a telephone company stringing wires. Lazdyn and Pouden both became members of a revolutionary band known as the "Brothers of the Woods."

Only Two Escaped Death. Lazdyn said he first met Pouden at a political demonstration in Madeline in June, 1905. The "Brothers of the Woods" consisted of a number of bands of revolutionists. They lived in the woods to hide from the police. Lazdyn was a member of the Central Committee.

All the members of this committee except Lazdyn and one other delegate still in Russia, have been put to death. Counsel for the Russian Government tried to get Lazdyn to tell who this other man was, but he said with a defiant shake of his head that he would not tell his name under any circumstances. Commissioner Hitchcock ruled that he need not answer.

Lazdyn did name two of the little band. Pouden belonged to two of them. He said the leader of the meeting in Madeline, where the first met Pouden, was still alive and in Russia. Three of the band Pouden was a member of were shot under a sentence of a field court-martial and another was shot by the order of a military court. Two others were tortured and afterward shot by a master of police without trial.

Comrades Tortured. Lazdyn said that late in the summer of 1906 he saw Pouden again. This time he met him in the woods. The bands, it was supposed, had burned parts of the large estates in that section of Russia, although Lazdyn denied they did. At any rate, the dragoons were sent into the woods after them. Four of the revolutionists were arrested and one of them died from tortures. In September of that year Pouden was deported to the day many of them got away. Counsel for the Russian Government asked Lazdyn in whose homes he hid, but Mr. Parsons promptly said this question also was to get information for the Government, and his objection was sustained by the Commissioner. Lazdyn gave his testimony through an interpreter and he only smiled whenever such questions were put to him.

It is a Gift to the German Reformed Church on its 250th Anniversary.

On board the steamship Pretoria, which arrived from Hamburg today, was a bell to be put on the German Reformed Church of America at No. 365 East Sixty-eighth street. The bell is a gift of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the congregation for the 250th anniversary of the church which takes place within a few weeks.

Elaborate preparations for the anniversary are being made by the congregation. At the time the celebration was planned a letter was sent to the Kaiser telling him how the German language had been spoken in the edifice for 250 years, and as a result he had the bell sent as his gift.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

Pour a teaspoonful of Omega Oil in a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the arising steam. The steam carries the healing properties of the Oil into the throat and lungs and gives quick relief. Trial bottle 10c.

BELL SENT BY KAISER
ARRIVES ON PRETORIA.

It is a Gift to the German Reformed Church on its 250th Anniversary.

On board the steamship Pretoria, which arrived from Hamburg today, was a bell to be put on the German Reformed Church of America at No. 365 East Sixty-eighth street. The bell is a gift of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the congregation for the 250th anniversary of the church which takes place within a few weeks.

Elaborate preparations for the anniversary are being made by the congregation. At the time the celebration was planned a letter was sent to the Kaiser telling him how the German language had been spoken in the edifice for 250 years, and as a result he had the bell sent as his gift.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

Pour a teaspoonful of Omega Oil in a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the arising steam. The steam carries the healing properties of the Oil into the throat and lungs and gives quick relief. Trial bottle 10c.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

POLICEMAN ON SPREE WRECKS A RESTAURANT

Jumps on Table to Make a Stump Speech and Finally Lands in a Cell.

Policeman Cyrus S. McKinnen, doing extra duty in the Sixteenth Precinct, landed in a cell in the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station today. He was arrested by Policeman Jeremiah A. Shea and locked up after a physician declared he was slowly recovering from a seizure of acute alcoholism.

McKinnen went into the restaurant of Jacob Horn, No. 292 Eighth avenue, and had something to eat, also something to drink. Climbing on a table, he began an excited harangue for William J. Bryan, declaring that the Nebraska had been cheated out of the White House.

Born was willing to permit the speech, even with gestures, but when McKinnen began to kick about bottles from the table and throw pictures from the wall to emphasize a point, the proprietor protested.

The rum-inspired orator then directed his attack against Horn, charging him with stifling Socialist ballots in the box against Bryan. Born saw several pieces of crockery and table articles join others in broken bits, and decided to have his strenuous visitor taken away. As he opened the door, McKinnen sprang from the table, upsetting it together with three chairs, and chased Born.

About this time Mr. Shea, policeman, happened around and promptly made an arrest. Lieutenant Walsh, entertained a charge of drunkenness after Dr. D. J. Donovan had rendered an expert opinion as to his condition. The policeman was later arraigned before Magistrate Brown.

Formidable Words. (From the Washington Star.) "I suppose," said the friend, "that the letter of acceptance with which you raise the party standard represents a great consummation of midnight oil."

"Look here, my friend," answered the cautious candidate, "talk about electricity or gas as much as you like, but please don't mention 'standard' and 'oil'."

Only Two Escaped Death. Lazdyn said he first met Pouden at a political demonstration in Madeline in June, 1905. The "Brothers of the Woods" consisted of a number of bands of revolutionists. They lived in the woods to hide from the police. Lazdyn was a member of the Central Committee.

All the members of this committee except Lazdyn and one other delegate still in Russia, have been put to death. Counsel for the Russian Government tried to get Lazdyn to tell who this other man was, but he said with a defiant shake of his head that he would not tell his name under any circumstances. Commissioner Hitchcock ruled that he need not answer.

Lazdyn did name two of the little band. Pouden belonged to two of them. He said the leader of the meeting in Madeline, where the first met Pouden, was still alive and in Russia. Three of the band Pouden was a member of were shot under a sentence of a field court-martial and another was shot by the order of a military court. Two others were tortured and afterward shot by a master of police without trial.

Comrades Tortured. Lazdyn said that late in the summer of 1906 he saw Pouden again. This time he met him in the woods. The bands, it was supposed, had burned parts of the large estates in that section of Russia, although Lazdyn denied they did. At any rate, the dragoons were sent into the woods after them. Four of the revolutionists were arrested and one of them died from tortures. In September of that year Pouden was deported to the day many of them got away. Counsel for the Russian Government asked Lazdyn in whose homes he hid, but Mr. Parsons promptly said this question also was to get information for the Government, and his objection was sustained by the Commissioner. Lazdyn gave his testimony through an interpreter and he only smiled whenever such questions were put to him.

It is a Gift to the German Reformed Church on its 250th Anniversary.

On board the steamship Pretoria, which arrived from Hamburg today, was a bell to be put on the German Reformed Church of America at No. 365 East Sixty-eighth street. The bell is a gift of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the congregation for the 250th anniversary of the church which takes place within a few weeks.

Elaborate preparations for the anniversary are being made by the congregation. At the time the celebration was planned a letter was sent to the Kaiser telling him how the German language had been spoken in the edifice for 250 years, and as a result he had the bell sent as his gift.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

Pour a teaspoonful of Omega Oil in a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the arising steam. The steam carries the healing properties of the Oil into the throat and lungs and gives quick relief. Trial bottle 10c.

BELL SENT BY KAISER
ARRIVES ON PRETORIA.

It is a Gift to the German Reformed Church on its 250th Anniversary.

On board the steamship Pretoria, which arrived from Hamburg today, was a bell to be put on the German Reformed Church of America at No. 365 East Sixty-eighth street. The bell is a gift of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the congregation for the 250th anniversary of the church which takes place within a few weeks.

Elaborate preparations for the anniversary are being made by the congregation. At the time the celebration was planned a letter was sent to the Kaiser telling him how the German language had been spoken in the edifice for 250 years, and as a result he had the bell sent as his gift.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

Pour a teaspoonful of Omega Oil in a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the arising steam. The steam carries the healing properties of the Oil into the throat and lungs and gives quick relief. Trial bottle 10c.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

CANADA TO DECIDE FATE OF EMPIRE

Younger Dominions Hold Future of Britain in Their Hands, Says Milner.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—Lord Milner made the last speech he will make in Canada during his present stay in the Dominion to the members of the Canadian Club at the Senators' Institute yesterday. It was, as he himself said, a resume of his message, an appeal to imperialism of the higher type. He said in part:

"There is one remark I have often heard from Canadians, not from Englishmen, and that is that the public life in Canada is unattractive because there are no big issues. That seems to me to be an extraordinary point of view. No big issues! The next years are going to determine whether Canada will remain a part of the British Empire."

"The decision of that question rests with Canadians alone. No external compulsion could be exercised to influence it. It rests with them alone—the decision of that question, and with that question perhaps the decision of the fate of the empire as a whole. Even in its badly organized condition the empire is the greatest political entity in the world; properly organized, it would be the greatest power."

He then held up the people of the younger dominions to decide whether it shall be capable of discharging its great mission in the world.

Formidable Words. (From the Washington Star.) "I suppose," said the friend, "that the letter of acceptance with which you raise the party standard represents a great consummation of midnight oil."

"Look here, my friend," answered the cautious candidate, "talk about electricity or gas as much as you like, but please don't mention 'standard' and 'oil'."

Only Two Escaped Death. Lazdyn said he first met Pouden at a political demonstration in Madeline in June, 1905. The "Brothers of the Woods" consisted of a number of bands of revolutionists. They lived in the woods to hide from the police. Lazdyn was a member of the Central Committee.

All the members of this committee except Lazdyn and one other delegate still in Russia, have been put to death. Counsel for the Russian Government tried to get Lazdyn to tell who this other man was, but he said with a defiant shake of his head that he would not tell his name under any circumstances. Commissioner Hitchcock ruled that he need not answer.

Lazdyn did name two of the little band. Pouden belonged to two of them. He said the leader of the meeting in Madeline, where the first met Pouden, was still alive and in Russia. Three of the band Pouden was a member of were shot under a sentence of a field court-martial and another was shot by the order of a military court. Two others were tortured and afterward shot by a master of police without trial.

Comrades Tortured. Lazdyn said that late in the summer of 1906 he saw Pouden again. This time he met him in the woods. The bands, it was supposed, had burned parts of the large estates in that section of Russia, although Lazdyn denied they did. At any rate, the dragoons were sent into the woods after them. Four of the revolutionists were arrested and one of them died from tortures. In September of that year Pouden was deported to the day many of them got away. Counsel for the Russian Government asked Lazdyn in whose homes he hid, but Mr. Parsons promptly said this question also was to get information for the Government, and his objection was sustained by the Commissioner. Lazdyn gave his testimony through an interpreter and he only smiled whenever such questions were put to him.

It is a Gift to the German Reformed Church on its 250th Anniversary.

On board the steamship Pretoria, which arrived from Hamburg today, was a bell to be put on the German Reformed Church of America at No. 365 East Sixty-eighth street. The bell is a gift of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the congregation for the 250th anniversary of the church which takes place within a few weeks.

Elaborate preparations for the anniversary are being made by the congregation. At the time the celebration was planned a letter was sent to the Kaiser telling him how the German language had been spoken in the edifice for 250 years, and as a result he had the bell sent as his gift.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

Pour a teaspoonful of Omega Oil in a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the arising steam. The steam carries the healing properties of the Oil into the throat and lungs and gives quick relief. Trial bottle 10c.

BELL SENT BY KAISER
ARRIVES ON PRETORIA.

It is a Gift to the German Reformed Church on its 250th Anniversary.

On board the steamship Pretoria, which arrived from Hamburg today, was a bell to be put on the German Reformed Church of America at No. 365 East Sixty-eighth street. The bell is a gift of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany to the congregation for the 250th anniversary of the church which takes place within a few weeks.

Elaborate preparations for the anniversary are being made by the congregation. At the time the celebration was planned a letter was sent to the Kaiser telling him how the German language had been spoken in the edifice for 250 years, and as a result he had the bell sent as his gift.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

Pour a teaspoonful of Omega Oil in a cup of boiling water, hold the mouth and nose close to the cup, and inhale the arising steam. The steam carries the healing properties of the Oil into the throat and lungs and gives quick relief. Trial bottle 10c.

FOR

Asthma
Bronchitis
Catarrh &
Difficult Breathing

USE

Omega Oil

WOMAN'S RAZOR DRIVES THUG OFF, BADLY INJURED

Attacked in Her Flat, Plucky Mrs. Cioffi Defends Herself Ably.

After she had cut off the ear and stabbed in the neck a man who she says attacked her, Mrs. Mary Cioffi, twenty-eight years old, of No. 216 East One Hundred and Tenth street, ran to the East One Hundred and Fourth street station and gave herself up to the police this afternoon. The man says he is Dominick Amadio, thirty-eight years old, of No. 310 East One Hundred and Ninth street. He was arrested on a charge of attempted assault.

Mrs. Cioffi told the police that Amadio was a butcher and delivered meat to her every day. To-day, she says, when he brought a steak she had ordered he insulted her. She ordered him from the flat.

Half an hour later, the woman says, she was standing at the kitchen table and heard a step behind her. She turned and saw Amadio, who had quietly opened the door, creeping up behind her. Before she could utter a cry the man snatched her by the hair and dragged her into a bedroom. She screamed, but did not attract the attention of neighbors.

She managed to break away and ran to a bureau and got a razor, which she opened just as he caught her again. Mrs. Cioffi says she drew the razor across his face when he had caught her by the arm again.

Detective Duffy and Flynn followed a trail of blood to a drug store at One Hundred and Tenth street and Second avenue, where they found Amadio having his wounds dressed.

Dr. Herrity, of Harlem Hospital, said Amadio was lucky, as the edge of the razor had just missed his jugular vein.

OPPENHEIM, COLLINS & Co.

34th Street—West

An Important Sale on Friday, Nov. 6

Ladies' and Misses' Tailored Suits and Broadcloth Empire Gowns

Ladies' Broadcloth Tailored Suits

• Ten separate and distinct styles.....

Misses' Broadcloth and Cheviot Tailored Suits

also suitable for small women.....

Broadcloth Empire Gowns

in all the prevailing colors.....

Voile Princess Dresses

Silk lined throughout. (Values up to $45.00).....

Special Exhibit of Trimmed Millinery

Suitable for Wear at the Horse Show,

Including the Latest Parisian Models and Adaptations from Their Own Workrooms, at Exceedingly Moderate Prices.

World Wants Work Wonders

At 96 James Butler Inc. Stores

Licensed to Retail Wines, Liquors, Ales, &c.

James Butler Inc. Stores

CHOICE INC. GROCERIES

The same in quality all over the world. Retail prices the lowest in America.

Guinness's Stout

Dozen Spills..... $1.00

Three Spills..... 25c

Dozen Bottles..... $1.35

Bass Ale

Dozen Bottles..... $1.50

Two Bottles..... 25c

The Old October Brew.

H. B. Kirk & Co.'s Old Crow Rye—Genuine sour 94c

mask Kentucky rye whiskey; bottle.....

Mercier Champagne—Limited quantity of this fine old $1

French wine; bottle $1; half bottle.....

Sherry, Port, Claret—Pure California grape wines, rich 50c and full bodied; half gallon.....

French Claret—Schmidt et Fils, highly prized imported dinner 39c wine; bottle, cut to.....

Rhine Wine—Carl Wohlgemuth's imported sparkling Lauben 59c hemi; bottle cut to.....

French Brandy—Godefrès' Three Star French Cognac— 1.15

nac old and low; bottle.....

Irish Whiskey—Sir John Power's 3-Swallow Dublin Pot 95c

Sill from birley half; bottle.....

Scotch Whiskey—Special Importation of the old Kingussie 79c

Highland Whiskey; bottle.....